while strong and em are of course more semantically correct there seem definite legitimate reasons to use the b and i tags for customer written content 9 mar 2010 indicate relative importance by nesting strong elements and use em for text with stress emphasis or b for text that is stylistically offset or bold without being more important in this snippet we re going to explain the differences between the b and strong i and em tags find out the differences and use them correctly general consensus is that `em` and `strong` should be used as they indicate semantic meaning i.e. this text or word is more important than the others as well as how the text should look i.e. this word deze tag dient om net iets meer nadruk te leggen op een stukje tekst dan de `em` tag meestal wordt de tekst gewoon in het vet afgedrukt

19 feb 2019 a good example of this is when trying to determine whether to use `strong` b or `i` tags in your markup

12 sep 2023 the difference between these tags is that `b` only visually makes the text appear bold whereas the `strong` tag also provides semantic emphasis indicating a meaningful word or text
